Featured Area of Practice: Intellectual Property

Areas of Practice: Business and Corporate Services, Corporate Tax Litigation, Wills and Estates

Frank Shostack is an experienced Toronto lawyer who joined Devry Smith Frank LLP ("DSF") in April of 2016. He received his Juris Doctor (JD) degree from the University of Toronto and was called to the Ontario Bar in 1970. Frank subsequently obtained his Master of Laws degree from Osgoode Hall Law School.

Frank has been practising law for almost 50 years and still enjoys the relationship with his clients and the personal satisfaction that comes with being an adviser, assisting clients with their business matters. Frank practises in the areas of Business and Corporate Law, Tax Law, Estate Planning and Trusts, Intellectual Property, - advising clients on matters pertaining to corporate finance, corporate tax planning, acquisitions, mergers, joint ventures, divestitures, intellectual property, licensing of technology and brands, business contract negotiations, shareholder and business disputes, and corporate governance.

Frank's experience in trademark and copyright matters began in the mid 1970's and has involved advising clients in trademark applications, negotiating and preparing trade mark and brand licensing agreements, and licensing agreements on behalf of software developers.

Through his commitment to quality, and his dedication to his clients, Frank has established many long-standing client relationships and solidified his reputation as a practical legal and business adviser.
